Head of Investor Relations / Business Development

At Jera Capital, we do things differently. We are a private equity firm specializing in secondary transactions, with a dedicated focus on North America and Western Europe. Our mission is simple: to give institutional investors innovative, tailored access to private markets while creating lasting value.

THE OPPORTUNITY

We are looking for a Head of Investor Relations to join our leadership team in Copenhagen. This is more than a role – it is a chance to shape how we engage with investors, build long-term partnerships, and drive the growth of an entrepreneurial and ambitious firm. If you are energized by the idea of working closely with a wide range of investors, getting to know different fund structures, and making a direct impact on a firm's trajectory, this could be your next big step.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Investor relations

- Take full ownership of the Investor Relations function, setting the strategy and building a best-in-class approach that supports our growth.
- Be the trusted partner for our 100+ investors, ensuring they feel supported, informed, and valued.
- Elevate our communications and reporting, making sure every investor interaction reflects clarity, transparency, and excellence.

Business development

- Expand our reach by building new relationships across Europe, both with top-tier institutions and smaller investors (family offices, foundations, endowments).
- Drive our fundraising efforts from roadshows and presentations to guiding due diligence.
- Bring strategic insights from the market and investor community to help shape new products and key decisions.

YOUR PROFILE

We are looking for someone who combines technical expertise with genuine relationship-building skills:

- 5-10 years in private markets, ideally in private equity.
- A strong track record in investor relations, fundraising, or business development within private equity or asset management and with deep connections across European investors.
- Entrepreneurial mindset: self-starter, resourceful and collaborative in an ambitious environment.
- Exceptional communication & presentation skills: engage confidently with senior stakeholders.

WHAT WE OFFER

- A senior role with direct influence on the growth and strategy of the firm.
- The chance to work with top-tier investors across Europe and beyond.
- A rare opportunity to be involved with both continuous fundraising for our evergreen products and ad hoc processes for our more traditional private equity fund structures.
- A collaborative, entrepreneurial culture where your voice and ideas make a difference.
- A Copenhagen-based role with international scope and long-term career development potential.

If this sounds like you, we'd love to hear your story. Send your CV and a short cover letter to careers@jera-capital.com and let us know why this opportunity excites you.
