Associate/Senior Associate, Private Equity Secondaries

Jera Capital is looking to expand the team in order to meet the needs of our growing platform, client base and investment activity.

Jera Capital's investment focus covers the full spectrum of the private equity secondary market, in particular LP-led and GP-Led transactions. Our investment approach targets high quality companies with strong value creation potential, but also aims to select companies with a sustainable approach in line with Jera Capital's ESG targets.

Our new colleague will be responsible for evaluating secondary investment opportunities in funds and companies on a global basis. Secondary professionals develop skills relevant to both fund and direct private equity investing, while participating in one of the fastest-growing segments of the private markets industry.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Assume a lead role in the modelling and analysis of private equity secondary transactions:

- Analyze private equity companies and funds using leveraged buyout and secondary models
- Construct comparable company analyses and develop multiple projection scenarios through company and industry research
- Perform due diligence calls and participate in due diligence meetings with general partners
- Prepare investment memoranda for the Investment Committee

Monitor existing investments in the firm's portfolios and assist in preparation of client marketing materials

QUALIFICATIONS

- A minimum of 2 years' experience within the following segments of the financial industry: private equity, investment banking, corporate M&A, capital markets or valuation services. Prior private equity secondary related investment experience is a positive, but not required
- Experience in performing complex financial analysis, modelling, and company valuations
- Ability to conduct industry research, articulate opinions and write clear and concise memoranda on investment opportunities
- Outstanding academic record

SKILLS

- High written & oral communication and interpersonal skills
- Dedicated interest and commitment to private equity investing
- Strong work ethic and professional demeanour with a team-oriented approach
